The police, well the police arrived in a purple Sierra as I said and I walked on across the road, do you know where the isle is in the middle of the street and either the police got out of the car there or they drove the car around and got out there and then I stopped there and I seen the police out and I seen one of the policemen down on his knees and there was just a crowd standing. It was just usual, they were all shouting and all and a couple of minutes later the ambulance appeared and I, that was it I walked on.

Do you see when you at the corner of Thomas Street just before this fight occurred, can you tell us was there a comment made, calling somebody a fenian bastard.

ALLEN

No not that I heard of.

If I told you that through the enquiry that has come out that someone made a comment 'fenian bastards'.

ALLEN

Well I never heard anybody saying that now.
