

When he was in the landrover my girlfriend was cradling Robert's head. Was still an angry crowd - no kicking.

Man was pulled into landrover further back before kicking stopped.

But I went to identify him when pulled in by police - so it must have been near the end of the kicking - girlfriend was cradling Robert when I went to the landrover.

Didn't see anyone else with a Rangers scarf. Tied up tight to his neck. Think he was wearing a jacket.

He was tall, jet black hair, fringe down - gelled - clean shaven. He was in the landrover laughing. I swung at him when he was in the landrover because he was laughing, shouting "fenian bastard up the UV."

Can't say where he was kicking him. Can't even say which area of the body he was at.

Everyone was kicking him.

He was one of the people shouting - he shouted kill him.
