

DOCUMENT RECORD PRINT

he wasn't because he remembered sitting with his parents sorting out his finances to see if he could afford it I then gave them a few land marks such as Jamesons bar & the Church on the end of Thomas Street.
I asked was it on the left or right of the street as you headed up from the town centre. He said the left. I asked how he came to see the events he had outlined in the document. He said he couldn't really be 100% sure but thought he had been in bed & heard a noise & got up & witnessed the events although he couldn't remember very clearly
now. He went on to say that he couldn't remember conversations on the document or the events
but the document was correct at the time of making.
I again enquired as to the address of the flat & asked for [REDACTED] & [REDACTED]
