P50 INFORMATION

Spoke to P50 [Redacted] proprietor of Paracord at Portdown & Belfast on 18-12-00. I have had ongoing contact with Nick Lyons over a period of weeks regarding the coat purchased by Tracey Clarke. P50 [Redacted] had checked for old records but cannot locate anything for 1996 Christmas period. He states he probably threw them out. He can recall a girl called Tracey who worked in Going Places bringing a coat for her boyfriend and was called Christy. He does recall that shortly after they got the coat it was damaged and they called back at the shop and had it repaired by covering it over with perhaps patches however he cannot be sure. When asked about a coat costing £175 or he cannot definitely say that they got a coat at that price but believes the only one they sold at that time was a small Abbie coat at that amount of money. This was a Puffa coat and he doesn't believe it was made in silver however he must be sure. He believes the company went out of business but he is endeavoring to locate a brochure with pictures etc on it. regarding a silver coat with orange stripes he believes he believes that the only one similar to that was called a shank valued at $80.00 to $90.00 pounds which was similar to a tunic top. He is endeavoring to locate a brochure, catalogue with these details.
