I was the Casualty Officer (MB BCh FRCS) who attended

Mr D in the early hours of the 27th of April 1997 in the Accident and Emergency Department of Craigavon Area Hospital. He admitted to seven pints of beer that evening and he was walking down a road with his wife when he was attacked by about 30 people. He was punched and kicked. The next thing he remembered he was in an ambulance. According to his wife, he lost consciousness for about 10 minutes. On examination he was alert and orientated. He had a scalp laceration and a small cut in his scalp. He was also tender on his right temporomandibular joint. X-rays of his skull and jaw did not show any fracture. He was given a tetanus booster and admitted into a surgical ward because of the substantial period of loss of consciousness.
