Just whenever we were talking to the police officers in the landrover and the, the driver had his door open and they were all facing us, you know talking away and then, I don't know, I think there was a boy wearing blue shirt and tie or something and he, he went like that, he just grabbed a police officer and he just says, are youse going to let them Orange bastards get away with that there. So and then the woman police officer in the passenger seat looked at us and she just says, she says get, you know get down the town and we says, know like we live up there and then the police officer in the back says, but no go on and they all got out at that stage and by that time when we, we went round the back of the landrover they were already you know chucking bottles and everything at each other.

Aha. Had you a bottle with you that night.
